

Korado

Radiators provide a responsive and flexible heating option for both new and existing homes. They heat up and cool down quickly, so are ideally suited to New Zealand's changeable weather conditions and the typically busy lifestyles of New Zealanders.

Korado Lined Radiator

The Korado Line radiator (pictured above) is a smooth, linear lined steel panel radiator with a contemporary look. They are a high-quality, European manufactured radiator that comes with a 25-year warranty and 8-ports for connection flexibility.

The Korado's slim profile, low water content and high output along with the contemporary design suits both commercial and modern residential projects equally well, and can be custom coloured to suit your decor.

Korado Universal Radiator

The Korado Universal radiator (pictured right) combines practicality with design flexibility. It features a traditional profiled steel front and a reversible layout for easy installation. For those after a design upgrade, an optional clip-on decorative panel is available. Supplied separately, it can be installed on-site in just five minutes.

This two-part option lets you tailor the radiator's appearance, whether you prefer a clean, uniform finish or a more modern edge. Ideal for both residential and commercial spaces, it offers a smart balance of performance and style.

8-Port Connections

With 8-ports for connection, it's the easiest most adaptable radiator range we have and makes for easy installation in new or existing homes.

Mounting: These radiators are supplied with easy-fit brackets. These can be mounted anywhere along the length of the radiator as they simply clip the top and bottom edge.

NB: Wall fixing stud position is flexible but recommend 150mm in from each end of the radiator.
